

Szerencsejáték ZRT

Általános felhívás 2006
Lotto Konferencia 2007

BUDAPEST

THE CITY

Budapest, with its 1.7 million residents, is the capital of the Republic of Hungary. This crossing point through the Danube, protected by the Carpathian Mountains, has been inhabited from time immemorial. It was a significant settlement during the Roman Empire, as proved by the numerous architectural and other remains. Budapest itself came to existence in 1873, through the formal union of three associated settlements (Buda, Óbuda and Pest). The city is encircled by mountains on the Buda side and divided by the river Danube, providing a unique scene. The Castle hill rising above the Buda river bank forms part of a World Heritage site. The city is characterised by its human scale and engaging architecture, originating mainly from the turn of the 19th century. Budapest is rich in museums and other cultural facilities. It's musical scene has a worldwide reputation.

5 European Lotteries Congress - 21-23 May 2007 - Budapest

BUDAPEST

THE CITY

Budapest, with its 1.7 million residents, is the capital of the Republic of Hungary. This crossing point through the Danube, protected by the Carpathian Mountains, has been inhabited from time immemorial. It was a significant settlement during the Roman Empire, as proved by the numerous architectural and other remains. Budapest itself came to existence in 1873, through the formal union of three associated settlements (Buda, Óbuda and Pest). The city is encircled by mountains on the Buda side and divided by the river Danube, providing a unique scene. The Castle hill rising above the Buda river bank forms part of a World Heritage site. The city is characterised by its human scale and engaging architecture, originating mainly from the turn of the 19th century. Budapest is rich in museums and other cultural facilities. It's musical scene has a worldwide reputation.

5 European Lotteries Congress - 21-23 May 2007 - Budapest

BUDAPEST

THE CITY

Budapest, with its 1.7 million residents, is the capital of the Republic of Hungary. This crossing point through the Danube, protected by the Carpathian Mountains, has been inhabited from time immemorial. It was a significant settlement during the Roman Empire, as proved by the numerous architectural and other remains. Budapest itself came to existence in 1873, through the formal union of three associated settlements (Buda, Óbuda and Pest). The city is encircled by mountains on the Buda side and divided by the river Danube, providing a unique scene. The Castle hill rising above the Buda river bank forms part of a World Heritage site. The city is characterised by its human scale and engaging architecture, originating mainly from the turn of the 19th century. Budapest is rich in museums and other cultural facilities. It's musical scene has a worldwide reputation.

5 European Lotteries Congress - 21-23 May 2007 - Budapest

BUDAPEST

THE CITY

Budapest, with its 1.7 million residents, is the capital of the Republic of Hungary. This crossing point through the Danube, protected by the Carpathian Mountains, has been inhabited from time immemorial. It was a significant settlement during the Roman Empire, as proved by the numerous architectural and other remains. Budapest itself came to existence in 1873, through the formal union of three associated settlements (Buda, Óbuda and Pest). The city is encircled by mountains on the Buda side and divided by the river Danube, providing a unique scene. The Castle hill rising above the Buda river bank forms part of a World Heritage site. The city is characterised by its human scale and engaging architecture, originating mainly from the turn of the 19th century. Budapest is rich in museums and other cultural facilities. It's musical scene has a worldwide reputation.

5 European Lotteries Congress - 21-23 May 2007 - Budapest

ACCESSIBILITY/CONNECTIONS

How to get to the Congress?

By air

Airplanes arrive at Ferihegy Airport. Ferihegy Airport 2 Terminal A hosts the Airlines flights, while Terminal B is used for charter flights. On the day of your arrival, 21st May, the conference host provides your transportation between the airport and the hotel. If you wish to arrive at another time, please check in with the host at the airport. If you wish to arrive at another time, please use the following telephone number: (+361) 296 8555.

By train

Budapest has direct railway connections with 25 capital cities. There are three major international railway stations in the city:

- Kelenföld pályaudvar: Baross tér, District VIII;
- Újpesti pályaudvar: Újpesti tér, District VI;
- Déli pályaudvar: Krisztina krt. 57, District I.

By car

Budapest is the starting point of the M1, M3, M5, M6 and M7 motorways, which are operated under a toll system (stickers may be bought at the frontiers and major filling stations). Traffic signs and control signals are identical to those customarily used throughout other European countries. The speed limit is 50 km/h in residential districts, 90 km/h on minor public roads, and 150 km/h on the Hungarian Autocub. (+361) 345 1755. Hotline of the emergency roadside help service: 188.

1. Újpesti Pályaudvar (Western Railway Station)
2. Kelenföld Pályaudvar (Eastern Railway Station)
3. Déli Pályaudvar (Southern Railway Station)
4. Budapest Congress World Trade Center
5. Ferihegy repülőtér (Ferihegy International Airport)

ACCESSIBILITY/CONNECTIONS

How to get to the Congress?

By air

Airplanes arrive at Ferihegy Airport located 15 kilometres from the city. Ferihegy Airport 2 Terminal A hosts the departure and arrival of Malév Hungarian Airlines flights, while Terminal B is dedicated to foreign airline companies. On the day of your arrival, 21st May, the conference host provides your transportation between the airport and your accommodation. Upon arrival, please check in with the host at the airport and at the joint EL information desk. If you wish to arrive at another time, please contact the Airport Minibus Service using the following telephone number (+361) 296 8555.

By train

Budapest has direct railway connections with 25 capital cities. There are three major international railway stations in the city:

- Kelenföld pályaudvar: Baross tér, District VIII;
- Újpesti pályaudvar: Újpesti tér, District VI;
- Déli pályaudvar: Krisztina krt. 57, District I.

By car

Budapest is the starting point of the M1, M3, M5, M6 and M7 motorways, which are operated under a toll system (stickers may be bought at the frontiers and major filling stations). Traffic signs and control signals are identical to those customarily used throughout other European countries. The speed limit is 50 km/h in residential districts, 90 km/h on minor public roads, and 150 km/h on the Hungarian Autocub. (+361) 345 1755. Hotline of the emergency roadside help service: 188.

SOCIAL I

For the duration
accompanying p
We would like to followed by the w
your visit. Shoul
(accommodation

Hilton Budapest
Historical building located in the Castle district, near the location of the Congress. All rooms are double bedrooms, which may be used as single for the same price.

Rooms —
Standard 195 €
Standard overlooking the Danube 225 €
Executive 255 €
Executive overlooking the Danube 285 €
Apartment overlooking the Danube 630 €
— VAT and breakfast not included
The transfer time of the shuttle bus carrying guests to the location of the Congress is less than 10 minutes to either hotel.

Hotel Mercure Buda
This hotel is less than 10 minutes' walk to the Congress venue. Excellent public transport connections for individual programme.

Floors *

- Standard single bedroom 150 €
- Standard double bedroom 165 €
- Executive  single bedroom 165 €
- Executive double bedroom 180 €

* VAT and breakfast included.

 Newly renovated rooms with enhanced services.

The transfer time of the shuttle bus carrying guests to the location of the Congress is less than 10 minutes to either hotel.

HOTELS

